WE NEED YOUR HELP!!!!!

We have been given a contract to build the new downtown sky rise apartments and have been making good progress on our contract. We are completing the load bearing walls and will soon begin permanent wall coverings so our construction manager decided it was time to offer leases on the new apartments. The new facility offers the most luxurious accommodations for tenants so the apartments were leasing quickly.

One day, a man signed a lease for a particular apartment and immediately began singing in a bad opera voice at the top of his lungs. My glasses broke from the screeching sounds this man made. After he signed his lease, we are legally bound to allow him to keep the apartment because there is no law against singing opera in a terrible way.

Upon performing a background check, we have found this man to sing at the top of his voice throughout the day and night. His current neighbors are glad to be getting rid of him and have a party planned to celebrate him leaving his current address. Some of the new tenants of our new building are families with small children, surgeons that need their rest and sleep, and many hard working individuals that want an evening's peace after a long hard day of work. We owe it to these tenants to soundproof our walls, floors, and ceilings so that each apartment will have no sound coming from other areas to disturb their time at home.

We are looking for a new material that can be placed in our complex that will stop sound from transmitting through from one side to the other. We are looking for new innovative ideas to help our tenants and are willing to pay handsomely for a solution to this problem. Your ideas are so valuable to us that we are willing to send a representative from the construction industry to your school to hear about them. We are looking forward to seeing you soon.

PLEASE HELP!!!!!

Sincerely,
